Stunning styles in rare and exclusive modes

The well dressed woman combines in her raiment good taste, style, suitableness, appropriateness, serviceability, and individuality.

Our suits this season appeal to women of taste. The new styles are snappy, and different from others. Our buyer seemed to strike the popular chord in his selections.

Women's Tailored Suits are the feature for this week. There is a great variety of clever styles in Eton, Bolero, Pony, and fitted coat suits. Every new fabric and every new shade is shown.

Broad assortments and a wide range of prices.

HATS

$5.00 & $10.00

Styles galore, but hand in hand goes common sense with style. By that we mean hats that to the cultured mind carry the suggestion of unostentation, of refinement, of elegant simplicity, of consistent good taste.

The superlative of style in headwear is not determined by price. A hat below $10.00 may possess the happy touch which gives it exquisiteness and becomingness. It may be found in a $6.00 hat.

The highest ideal of good taste is represented in the new conceptions which we are displaying.

Many elements combine to make millinery a successful enterprise.

Expensive millinery alone will not insure it.

There must be an essence of style and good judgment in millinery from $5.00 to $10.00—a general scheme must be followed out.

That is where Keith-O'Brien is strong this season.

The cheaper priced hats are in good taste—in other words, our reasonably priced hats are exceptionally handsome, dainty and refined.

Miss Jones wires from New York that she will return on the 18th. Miss Percell will open the dressmaking department on the 12th.

Embroidery remnants—all lengths and widths from the embroidery sale last week—closed out at prices ranging from 10 to $4.00 a remnant.

Embroidery flouncings—cambric, nainsook and Swiss, 9 to 15 inches wide, which are worth upward to 75 cents a yard, go for 35 cents.

Corset cover embroidery remnants, $1.25 a piece. Another lot of corset cover embroidery at 95 cents a piece. These are splendid offerings.

First Lieut. Wylie T. Conway, a native of Illinois, entered the army as a private on May 27, 1898, and on February 2, 1901, he was commissioned a Second Lieutenant.

The Troops in Action.

The last list of troops stationed in the Philippines at the War department shows that on January 20 the following troops were stationed on the island of Jolo: Companies 1 and 2, Fourth cavalry, and the Twenty-eighth battery of Field artillery. Companies 1, K, L, and M of the Twenty-eighth infantry, had been stationed at Jolo, but are understood to have been relieved by a battalion of the Sixth infantry, commanded by Col. Duncan, in January.

Col. Duncan was the senior officer on the field, save Maj.-Gen. Wood and Brig.-Gen. Bliss.

That the organizations were up to their normal strength there were about 400 soldiers in the action, besides the naval contingent, the strength of which is so far unknown.

It is believed, however, that owing to the sick list and other causes, there probably was not more than 400 of the military engaged. The strength of the constabulary is also unknown.

STOCKYARDS MUST BE IN GOOD CONDITION

State Board of Health Will Take Action in Cleaning Up Premises.

After making a personal inspection of the slaughtering and stockyards north of the city, City Food Inspector Frazier has reported to the State Board of Health the unsanitary and repulsive conditions which he found to prevail there. Dr. Reatty, secretary of the board, has requested that the matter be taken up at once by County Attorney Wiley of Davis county, in which the yards are located, and will also send his representative to make an examination.

Horrible Conditions.

According to the report made by Inspector Frazier, the conditions prevailing in the yards are simply horrible. He says that he counted eighty-two dead hogs in the pens occupied by the live animals, which were feeding upon the carcasses and offal from the slaughterhouse. The yards, he further declared, were covered with filth to a depth of six inches.

Would Change the Law.

In discussing the question Friday night, Dr. Reatty said: "The law covering the slaughtering and sale of animals used for food should be radically changed and should provide for a central slaughterhouse, in which all the animals used in the city must be slaughtered. They should be subject to expert inspection both before and after killing. If the people of Salt Lake fully understood existing conditions they would eat little meat."

MUCH SMALLPOX IN CITY

Board of Health Is Striving for Strict Quarantine.

According to the latest reports received by the City Board of Health there are sixty-five cases of smallpox within the city limits. The board is striving by every means in its power to enforce the quarantine, but finds the checking of the disease difficult, owing to the intense prejudice existing among residents of certain sections of the city against vaccination. At the isolation hospital there are twenty-eight cases and additional patients are being received almost daily.

Petitions for Letters.

Petitions for letters of administration were filed Friday in the estate of John A. Maxwell, deceased, by Louie M. Maxwell, widow, the property consisting of twenty acres of land in Granite; and in the estate of Charlotte Ann Taylor, by Miles R. Taylor, the estate being valued at $250.

SLIGHT CHANCE FOR MEETING WITH BOULDER

High School Has Dampener Put on Hopes of Meeting the Coloradoans.

The letter from the Boulder university which has been anxiously waited for by the athletes of the high school track team, because of the fact that it was expected to settle the long-pending question of whether or not the local team would get a chance to mix things with the Colorado team in their interscholastic track meet, finally made its appearance at the school yesterday.

The letter put a damper on the high school boys, who had fully expected the Coloradoans to ask for terms and dates, by informing them that it would not be possible for them to work in on the Colorado league meet, which will be held on May 19. The high school boys had fully expected the letter to be far more favorable because of the fact that previous letters from the Boulder university, which institution has charge of the annual meet, had been most favorable to Salt Lake.

Colorado Sends Back Reply.

Your letter to the University of Boulder, inquiring about the eligibility of your high school team to take part in our track meet on "High School day," has been referred to me for reply.

I would say that the first article of the Colorado Interscholastic Track association limits the membership to Colorado schools that are on the accredited list of this university. We have made an exception in the case of the Cheyenne high school, which, by its position near the Colorado line, has been regarded as our legitimate territory.

Only Accredited Teams Take Part.

While I have no doubt as to the qualifications of your high school to a place on our accredited list, yet it has not been and is not our policy to make the list include schools outside of our natural territory. I would say that the university management pays the railroad expenses of teams within a radius of 120 miles, sometimes making special arrangements for the winner of our meet and arrange for a contest either in Denver or Salt Lake City. As high school day comes about the middle of May, you would doubtless have time for a test of strength after that. If I can give you any further information I will be glad to do so. Yours, GEORGE NORRIN, Chairman High School Day Committee.

May Challenge Winner of Meet.

The letter, though, does not signify that Salt Lake will not get a chance to take the trip to Denver.

The question is now, can they arrange a dual meet with the winner of the Colorado meet? Boulder seems to think that such a meet could be easily made. Julian Hentzberger, the local manager, stated yesterday that he feels very confident that the locals will be given a chance to meet the Colorado winners, and says he will begin at once to do all in his power to bring on such a dual meet.

AS GOOD AS UNCLE SAM'S SECURITIES

Thus Thinks a Los Angeles Man of Realty Investments in Salt Lake.

Thomas Homer of the local real estate firm of Homer & Robertson, who went to Los Angeles about a month ago on the Elks' excursion, returned to Salt Lake Friday. He was accompanied by Peter Haack and William G. Bradshaw, two capitalists of the coast city, who are interested heavily in Salt Lake, and Miss Mabel Lopp of Buffalo, N. Y., who recently made some heavy real estate investments in Los Angeles.

Miss Lopp only remained in Salt Lake between trains, leaving during the afternoon for the East. She, however, took an automobile ride around the city, and was so favorably impressed with the looks of things that she stated that she thought Salt Lake is a profitable field for investment.

Mr. Homer reported that Los Angeles real estate men are greatly interested in Salt Lake and that there is a probability that business men of that city will make some investments in local real estate. Notwithstanding his long absence, during which time he had the prices of Los Angeles shouted at him continuously, Mr. Homer returns to Salt Lake still believing that this city is the best field for investment in the United States.
